Mountain Bike Trail Suggestions

Intermediate

Blackwater View Trail: Off of Cortland Rd. in Canaan Valley is the Beall system trailhead, which is a part of the Canaan Valley National Wildlife Refuge. A kiosk with trail map and area descriptions is located at the parking lot. Blackwater View Trail eventually meets up with Middle Valley Trail, creating even more opportunities for additional miles of riding. This trip is unique because it is the only biking permitted in the center of Canaan Valley. Expect single track and double-track riding conditions.

Yellow Creek: Outside of Davis head to Camp 70 and the first parking area on your left. Only hundreds of feet from Beaver Creek and the town of Davis is the Little Canaan Wildlife Management area and the famous Blackwater Classic mountain bike race. Head out Beaver Creek Trail to Trials Trail. From here ride until the sign for beginner/expert split. The “beginner” trail is Yellow Creek, but do not let the title fool you. This six mile loop is absolutely beautiful!

Blackwater Falls State Park: All of Blackwater Falls State Park trails would be considered Intermediate with just enough tech sections on Yellow Birch for some extra challenges. There are two separate areas to take advantage of. Dobbin House area is made up of single track trails above Pendleton Lake. Recommend Pase Point and Brads Trail. The second region stretches from the town of Davis all the way to the Blackwater Falls State Park Sled Hill and Lindy Point. Recommend Red Spruce and Balanced Rock trails.
